THE WEATHER.

Madrid, Nov. 29.—The weather improved in the morning to such a degree that as early as 7 o'clock the streets and balconies were thronged with people and much animation prevailed. Many houses have been decorated and are erected at various points. Everybody is speaking of the marriage of King Alfonso and Archduchess Maria Christina, which takes place in the forenoon.

In the morning the bands of the regiments quartered in the city played a reveille before the royal palace, and afterwards marched through the principal streets.

THE ROYAL WEDDING.

Was solemnized in the Atoche church, according to programme.

THE BRIDE

left the Pardo palace in the morning, for the ministry of marine, where apartments had been prepared for her, in which she was to be robbed in her marriage attire.

KING ALFONSO

left the Royal Palace for Atoche church shortly before 11 o'clock. He was accompanied by Arch Duke Renier, and was preceded by eleven carriages, containing his mother, ex-Queen Isabella, the Princess of Austria, and other members of the royal family, grandees of Spain and court dignitaries.

The bride approached the church by another route. She was accompanied by her ma, and was preceded by four carriages, containing ladies of honor and court dignitaries.

THE BRIDE'S DRESS.

The bride was richly dressed in white, and wore a diadem of brilliants and the insignia of the Marie Louise order. Troops lined the streets through which the procession marched.

The Atoche church was splendidly illuminated and decorated with rich silken draperies.

The diplomatic body, Spanish grandees and deputations from the senate and chambers of deputies received the king at the church and occupied the nave.

The bride was much moved during the ceremony.

The benediction was given on behalf of the Pope by Cardinal Patriarch of Indus, who officiated at the nuptial mass.

CASUALTIES.

An Entire Family Buried to Death at Toronto.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The Grand Opera House, on Adelaide street, was burned early this morning. The janitor, named Wright, his wife and young daughter are missing and are supposed to have been burned to death. A young man named Tom Scott leaped from a window to the street and escaped with a broken arm. The building was considered one of the finest in the city.

LATER. The bodies of Wright and family have been recovered. They were burned to cinders.

The loss on the building and appointments is estimated at $200,000. Daniel Bandman, the tragedian, who was filling an engagement at the Grand Opera House, had all his valuable theatrical wardrobe in the building and all is lost. He will suffer to the extent of $25,000. The building was insured for $40,000.

Arrest of Nine Persons at St. Louis on the Charge of Murder.

Wholesale Body Snatching Developed at Chattanooga.

MURDER. St. Louis, Nov. 29.—Ed. Tilley, a convict in the penitentiary at Jefferson City, attacked David Hogan, another convict with a shoe knife, yesterday, and before he could be secured, inflicted eleven stabs on his victim, wounding him mortally. Both are negroes; the former was sent up for life for murder.

WHOLESALE ARREST. Nine persons were arrested night before last, charged with murdering Dr. Sherman, who was waylaid and killed near Brunswick, O., last summer.

BODY SNATCHING. Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 29.—Bennett Jackson was arrested here this morning for snatching the body of Tennessee Keith, who died Wednesday night. The body was packed in shoe box and addressed to Atlanta, and said to contain fresh fish. Last night the parties attempted to send the same box to Cincinnati as cotton seed. Bennett Jackson, his son, and the sexton of the city cemetery were committed to jail in default of $2,000 bail.

Further investigations indicate that Jackson, the body snatcher, has been engaged in the business for some time. The express office books show that Jackson shipped a similar box to Wm. Morrow, Cincinnati, the 24th of June last; February 1st, one box to J. H. Moxton, Cincinnati; again to last address, February 4th and 10th, and April 3rd and 4th. No further shipments were made until October. During November three bodies had already been shipped addressed to J. W. Williams, Atlanta, the last having been shipped Nov. 25, and is supposed to have contained the body of a negro woman who died Monday. In Jackson's pocket was found a receipt signed by J. W. Williams, Atlanta, acknowledging the receipt of the body shipped Monday and for which $25 was enclosed. The boxes were shipped as containing fish or furs. Jackson is well known and was a candidate for alderman at the last election. Newton Carroll, the sexton, is a negro and has been employed at the cemetery for the past three years. His brother and assistants escaped, but the police are on their track.

IRELAND'S WRONGS.

Fifteen Thousand Home Rulers Assembled in Liverpool.

Speeches of Parnell and Others—Ringing Resolutions.

A BIG CROWD.

Liverpool, Nov. 29.—A meeting, the attendance at which is estimated 15,000 persons, was held opposite St. George's Hall to-day.

Parnell fully endorsed the speeches for which the recent arrests were made. He strongly denounced the action of the government, which he predicted would utterly fail in its object. The agitation against landlordism, he said, would be continued.

THE RESOLUTIONS moved by Parnell, and carried with enthusiasm, are to the effect that the arrests are arbitrary, unconstitutional and calculated to weaken the confidence of the people of Ireland, and the government, which squanders the BLOOD AND TREASURE of the people in unjust wars abroad, while misery and famine are unrelevated at home, stands condemned in the eyes of all right minded and thoughtful people.

Finnegan, obstructionist member of parliament for Ennis, spoke strongly in DENUNCIATION OF THE GOVERNMENT.

There was no disturbance. The authorities had taken great precautions. A committee at a prior meeting had issued an appeal to the Irish to maintain a firm, but peaceful attitude. There was a

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS.

JACK SWAYNE. The Action Taken by Judge Borden in the Bail Matter.

It seems that the bail bond of Jack Swain has not been approved. When the question of admitting him to bail was up before Judge Borden on Wednesday, he called attention to the fact that it had not yet been proved that it was Swain who stabbed Sheehy; and he stated to the prosecution that he would adjourn the hearing until Friday, and if such proof was introduced he would not let the prisoner out on bail. On Friday he again referred to the fact that no such proof had been adduced, and he supposed none such could be found. It having been agreed between the counsel that the evidence taken by the reporter on the previous trial should be the basis of action on this motion, the Judge said, taking that evidence as his guide, he must say it was a case of manslaughter and not murder, and the defendant would be admitted to bail.

THE IRISH TROUBLES.

Killen Committed for Trial and Refuses to Give Bail.

He Is Taken by Force to Jail Where He Addresses Immense Throng.

Startling Measures to be Adopted in His Behalf.

At Sligo, on Friday, the magistrate decided to commit Killen for trial and to admit him to bail. Killen refused to leave court and had to be carried out. The court was then ordered cleared, but Davitt and Rea remained in defiance of the order. At last accounts Killen was in jail and Rea was addressing an excited crowd.

The magistrates and the bail would be the same as in the Davitt and Daily cases. Killen refused to furnish it, and offered a passive resistance as he was removed from court by two policemen. Rea, his attorney, denounced the proceedings in the strongest terms.

It is intended to apply for a writ of habeas corpus to bring Killen before the Court of Queen's Bench, and to attempt to quash the magisterial proceedings.

The Assizes will be opened at Carrick on Shannon the 11th prox., when bills will be sent to the grand jury. The crown will then suggest the removal of the cases to a special commission of the Queen's bench, at Dublin.

Killen has stated that some startling measures will be taken in his behalf in the law courts.

STATE POLITICS.

The Hendricks club of Shelbyville, has 227 members.

The Lagrange Standard (rep.) tries to convince itself that Tilden is dead.

The Chester county, (Pa.) Democrat, wants Joe McDonald for vice president, with Bayard at the head of the ticket.

A state democratic exchange says: Much will depend on the state central committee selected at the state convention. Men of brains, as well as of industry, are wanted. Union and harmony are the aim of high resolves, and the spirit of the Indiana democracy, if they will win the victories of 1880.

The Columbia City Post says: It is with some degree of pride that we refer to the harmony and spirit of union existing among the democracy of Whitley at the present time. It augurs well for the great struggle of next year. This harmony must be supplemented by thorough organization. Those who are not for us are against us.

The Bloomfield Democrat believes that Zach Chandler's sudden taking off was a providential curse for his participation in the great fraud, and that the other guilty men have a similar fate in store for them.

The Warsaw National Union says: Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks can carry Indiana and the south. Can he carry New York? This question is answered by the most prominent democratic journals and leaders in that state, who say he can. If we are permitted to have confidence in these declarations he is the most valuable man in the United States for the nomination for president on the democratic ticket.

Congress will meet Monday, when the president's message will be received.

Major Thos. P. Morgan has been appointed a commissioner of the district of Columbia.

The annual report of the superintendent of the life saving service shows 172 stations. During the year within the limits of its operations there were 219 shipwrecks, 2,107 lives saved and 58 lost. 3871 persons were succored.

Some of the features of secretary Sherman's report are made public. His recommendations are not startling. He does not suggest the retirement of the greenbacks, but favors the maintenance and enlargement of the national bank system and discusses the repeal of the legal tender act.

The annual report of the government auditor of railroad accounts shows that the amount due by the government on December 31st, 1879, and withheld from the Kansas and Union Pacific railroad companies on account of transportation will more than offset the $2,737,676 payable by them on account of the five percent of their net earnings. As to railroad construction, it is stated that for the ten months ending October 31st, 1879, there have been built in the United States 2,900 miles of new railroads, of which over 2,000 miles were west of the Mississippi, while the average new construction for the five years previous, taking, of course, only the first ten months of each year, amounted to only 1,660 miles.

THE REDSKINS.

They Kill Over Thirty White Men in Texas.

Religious Delay to the Peace Commission at Los Pinos.

A San Antonio special says the Indians are reported to be deprecating the country a hundred miles wide.

A Texas party of fifteen men went in pursuit and followed the trail to the Cañuel Mountains, where the Indians ambushed them and killed all but one or two. When the news reached town a strong party organized and went on the trail.

At the scene of the massacre they commenced to bury the dead. While thus employed they were fired upon and eighteen killed. The Indians are apparently armed with Sharps' rifles, and supposed to be frequenters of the United States reservation. A large force has been organized.

Secretary Schurz has received advice from Hatch, the peace commissioner at Los Pinos agency, that all proceedings had been stopped by runners from the White River Utes, who stated that runners from the Ute tribe had been moving to the Ute agency, and that all the Ute tribe had left for the camp of the White River Utes, who now refuse to come on until assured that this is not true. The Indians have been informed that this report is false, and that the troops are instructed not to advance during the present investigations. An advance of the troops would close any further business. Ouray thinks that the story is an invention of the Mormon element, who are doing all in their power to create serious trouble. This will delay the commission six days, until the White River runners return from the Ute agency.

The portmanteau of Miss Meeker, containing $31, taken from her by Douglas at the time of her capture, was returned Friday. Douglas sent it by a runner to Chief Ouray, who delivered it to Agent Stanley.

MERIT WINS.

Mr. Williams and the Water Works.

Despite all personal efforts and the efforts of friends for other results, a man will in the end be measured by his real merit. Mr. Williams invites censure by his attack upon other, and better, and more liberal men than himself, and he should not complain if he in return receives his share of it, for he coined the currency with which he is paid. No man in our city has been more untiring in his efforts to create for himself a reputation for engineering skill and as a public spirited citizen, than Mr. Williams, and no man has more unscrupulously appropriated to himself the talent, skill and industry of others for his own aggrandizement and profit. He knows if he were to give the credit for his reputation, which he places so high, to others, to whom it is really due, there would be little left he could rightfully call his own making. As canal engineer, railroad engineer, government director of the Union Pacific road, receiver of the Grand Rapids road, and in his latest effort to enlarge his reputation through the water works question, he appropriated to himself, without the acknowledged merit, the skill and labors of others. No man has been more thoroughly in consistent with himself, except in the chief element of his character and selfishness. He never advanced an idea which the public embraced as in its interest. His money has never followed his judgment, nor the money of others his advice in any public matter. When others have determined values, he has crept in and availed himself of their better judgment, and always accepted the resulting conditions and divisions in painfulness. He takes no chances upon his own judgment. As a controlling mind in any enterprise he would be a failure. His course upon the water works question is proof of this. He never did, and dare not now, trust himself upon any question, and wavers, doubts and equivocates upon all and a better judgment shows him a sure way of making himself richer, so that men may praise him for his money if not for his merits.

These remarks are called out by an article in a city paper of the 26th, and again in this morning's Gazette, which is so like some of Mr. Williams's other efforts, that its paternity can be easily traced. He claims the merit—if merit it be—of defeating the water works contract of 1870. It is yet to be determined whether what is now favored is any better. If Mr. W. is vain enough or his friends are foolish enough to claim that he was "instrumental in whole or in part" for the defeat of this contract, they know but little of the facts and the exact truth of the case. Then, as ever, he waited for others to do what he now claims as his own work. Mr. W. is so well known as an inconsistent, selfish and vindictive man, that his influence will neither defeat nor aid any project of a public interest. He is not responsible for his own action, and is not wisely advised by his friends.

A Pair of Interesting Hanging Bees.

Magnon, who was hanged at Windsor, Vt., Friday, when carried to the scaffold and placed in the chair, listened to the reading of the death warrant. He then predicted that within three years they would know who killed Streeter. He complained of the injustice done him in not being reprieved for a year, that the case might be presented to the legislature and a new trial granted. While speaking he and first became acquainted with Evans, through her sister, having been a friend of "his" former wife. Evans proposed marriage, but Vaughan's parents opposed the match. Evans, however, induced her to go to Ballarat with "him." The marriage took place there. For a fortnight after they were married they lived separately, she residing at a hotel. Subsequently they lived together. In appearance the man personator is feminine as regards the formation of features, but carries a decidedly masculine expression, though her hair is as dark of hair as an infant's. She is rather short of stature, regarded as a man, being about five feet four inches or five feet five inches. Her hair since her confinement in the hospital has grown almost to her shoulders. Sometime ago she met with an accident in the mine in which she was working, and thereby sustained a severe wound on her head. The doctor who attended her never had the slightest suspicion of her sex. The same gentleman was afterward called in to attend Evans while she was suffering from a dangerous attack of fever, but then again the imposition escaped detection. Miss Marquand, the young lady with whom the marriage was celebrated, says that Evans represented to her that "he" had two children by his former wife in France, and that these had been sent to Ireland. Two gentlemen visited her soon after the case was made known at Sandhurst. To them she said in reply to interrogations: "Oh, it's all over now; you may as well finish me at once."

Madrid Wild with Enthusiasm Over the Royal Marriage.

Balls, Illuminations, Bull Fights and Other Festivities.

Madrid is wild over the royal nuptials. Queen Isabella has arrived and presented her jewels to the Archduchess Marie Christine. Special representatives from France, Italy, Germany and England have presented credentials and gifts. The weather is rainy, and should it continue, the ceremony will be performed at the royal palace instead of the church.

The programme is as follows: On the first day the marriage ceremony takes place. On the second day, there will be a reception at the palace, and a gala performance at the opera. On the third and fourth days, there will be two bull fights, a state concert, illuminations, banquet at the palace and a gala performance at the theatre.

Besides these official festivities, balls are announced in several of the embassies and houses of nobility.

King Alfonso and his sisters visit the arch duchess daily at the royal residence at Pardo.

IN MALE ATTIRE.

A Woman Who for Twenty Years Played a Man's Part and Was Married as a Man.

(Melbourne Evening News.)

Extraordinary disclosures have been made regarding a female lunatic discovered in male attire. It appears that the woman, who for the past twenty years has passed as a man under the name of Edward De Lacy Evans, has married three different women. This secret of her disguised sex has never been even suspected, although she worked continuously as a miner for many years, and had been following this occupation in Sandhurst, where she was an ordinary "wages man," breaking quartz and doing her work with the best of the other workmen at the several mines. She might possibly have carried on the fraud unsuspected to the end of her days but that for the fact that a few weeks ago she began to show symptoms of insanity, which gradually became more and more pronounced. Some fifteen months ago the woman between whom and the supposed man the form of marriage had been gone through gave birth to a child. This is strange, as the statement undoubtedly is that this woman, passing as Evans's wife, stoutly maintained that she never knew the secret of her presumed husband's sex. Since the child's birth Evans has lapsed into an absent-minded and lethargic condition, and seemed to have lost all heart for work. On July 23d Evans was admitted to the hospital as a lunatic. The hospital records of the occurrence ran as follows: "Edward De Lacy Evans, male, married, admitted July 22; native of Kilkenny, Ireland; religion, Church of England. Dances, as usual, proceeded to give 'him' a bath. Evans struggled violently, and finally got away from the place. 'He' was recaptured and brought back next day. 'He' remained in hospital six weeks, during which a warder slept in the room every night without discovering the secret. She says she was born at Paris; otherwise she is a native of Jersey, while the hospital record gives Kilkenny as her birthplace. She speaks with an Irish accent, and claimed to be a nephew of the late General Sir Charles De Lacy Evans. Dr. Poland, resident surgeon at the Bendigo Hospital, having examined Evans, states that she herself has had one or more children. It is rumored that Evans was married several years ago in Melbourne, but regarding this evidence is not complete. One of the nurses at present at Bendigo Hospital says she can almost positively identify Evans as a passenger who came out in the ship Ocean Monarch twenty years ago. The girl, for this interesting character was then of girlish appearance, went under the name of Ellen Germanic. A singular feature of this story is that the nurse in question states that the girl had with her on the ship a box bearing the name 'Edward De Lacy Evans.' The girl on arrival in Victoria went up country and the next the nurse heard was that she had sent for the box and married a fellow passenger. The second marriage was celebrated eighteen years since, but no record of the event has been found. The wife's name was Sarah Moore, who singularly enough had two children, both of whom died. She breathed not a word about the imposition. The third marriage between Evans and 'his' present wife was celebrated at Ballarat on the 18th of September, 1868, by the Rev. W. Henderson, at the Presbyterian Church. On the latter occasion Evans put her age down at twenty-eight. Accepting this as correct she is now about thirty-nine. The certificate shows that the bridegroom's father was Edward J. De Lacy Evans, police magistrate, and that 'his' mother's name was Ann Dora Vaughan, a Welsh woman. The maiden name of Evans's present wife was Julia Marquand. She states that she was twenty-five years of age when the marriage ceremony was performed

REMEDIES.

The success attending the use of these great remedies in the treatment of affections of the Skin and Scalp with Loss of Hair is astonishing. From every part of the country come grateful acknowledgments of the cure which might be called miraculous. Messrs. Weeks & Potter extend their thanks to all who have spoken in favor of Citicura, and especially to those who have written reports of new cases wherever they occur.

SALE PRICE ON BODY AND LIMBS.

On Citicura, the most perfect of all the great remedies, the following statement is made: "I have used Citicura on my body and on one leg in a very extraordinary form for eight years. No kind of treatment, or medicine, or doctors, during this time, did me any permanent good. My friends, who were all physicians, knew that I had been a great sufferer, and that my condition at times had been such as to make me despair of ever being able to find a cure. I began to use Citicura, and I began to feel better. I commenced to use Citicura in April, and at once realized its beneficial effects. It gradually drew the impurities out of my system, and as fast as it appeared, healed it. At times large quantities would come to the surface, causing much itching and smarting, and at times I would feel as if I were burning. I used Citicura five months and took the Resolvent very strengthening and purifying medicine to take in such extreme cases of nature, because the disease was so weakening to the system."

Very gratefully yours, MRS. A. L. BROWN.

The Chester county, (Pa.) Democrat, wants Joe McDonald for vice president, with Bayard at the head of the ticket.

A state democratic exchange says: Much will depend on the state central committee selected at the state convention. Men of brains, as well as of industry, are wanted. Calm and harmony and the vim of high resolves, must be the spirit of the Indiana democracy, if they will win the victory of 1880.

The Columbia City Post says: It is with some degree of pride that the Post refers to the harmony and spirit of Whitley at the present time. It augurs well for the future of the state. This harmony must be supplemented by thorough organization. Those who are not for us are against us.

The Bloomfield Democrat believes that Zach Chandler's sudden taking off was a Providential curse for his participation in the great fraud, and that the other guilty men have a similar fate in store for them.

The Warsaw National Union says: Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks can carry Indiana and the south. Can he carry New York? This question is answered by the most prominent democratic journals and leaders in that state, who say he can. If we are permitted to have confidence in these declarations he is the most valuable man in the United States for the nomination for president on the democratic ticket.

The annual report of the government auditor of railroad accounts shows that the amount due by the government on December 31st, 1879, and withheld from the Kansas and Union Pacific railroad companies on account of transportation will more than offset the $2,737,576 payable by the five percent of their net earnings. As to railroad construction, it is stated that for the ten months ending October 31st, 1879, there have been built in the United States 2,900 miles of new railroads, of which over 2,000 miles were west of the Mississippi, while the average new construction for the five years previous, taking, of course, only the first ten months of each year, amounted to only 1,600 miles.

THE IRISH TROUBLES.

Killen Committed for Trial and Refuses to Give Bail.

He Is Taken by Force to Jail Where He Addresses Immense Throng.

Startling Measures to be Adopted in His Behalf.

At Sligo, on Friday, the magistrate decided to commit Killen for trial, and to admit him to bail. Killen refused to leave court and had to be carried out. The court was then ordered cleared, but Davitt and Rea remained in defiance of the order. At last accounts Killen was in jail and Rea was addressing an excited crowd.

The magistrates said the bail would be the same as in the Davitt and Daily cases. Killen refused to furnish it, and offered passive resistance as he was removed from court by two policemen. Rea, his attorney, denounced the proceedings in the strongest terms.

It is intended to apply for a writ of habeas corpus to bring Killen before the Court of Queen's Bench, and to attempt to quash the magisterial proceedings.

The Assizes will be opened at Carrick on Shannon the 11th prox., when bills will be sent to the grand jury. The crown will then suggest the removal of the cases to a special commission of the Queen's bench, at Dublin.

Killen has stated that some startling measures will be taken in his behalf in the law courts.

THE REDSKINS.

They Kill Over Thirty White Men in Texas.

Serious Delay to the Peace Commission at Los Pinos.

A San Antonio special says the Indians are reported to be deprelating the country a hundred miles wide. A Texas party of fifteen men went in pursuit and followed the trail to the Candelaria Mountains, where the Indians ambushed them and killed all but one or two. When the news reached town a strong party organized and went on the trail. Arriving at the scene of the massacre they commenced to bury the dead. While thus employed they were fired upon and eighteen killed. The Indians are apparently armed with Sharps' rifles, and supposed to be frequenters of the United States reservation. A large force has been organized.

Secretary Schurz has received advice from Hatch, the peace commissioner at Los Pinos agency, that all proceedings had been stopped by runners from the White River Utes, who stated that runners from the Uteais had been informed that this report is false, and that the troops are instructed not to advance during the present investigations. An advance of the troops would close any further business. Ouray thinks that the story is an invention of the Mormon element, who are doing all in their power to create serious trouble. This will delay the commission six days, until the White River runners return from the Uteais agency.

The portmanteau of Miss Meeker, containing $31, taken from her by Douglas at the time of her capture, was returned Friday. Douglas sent it by a runner to Chief Ouray, who delivered it to Agent Stanley.

MERIT WINS.

Mr. Williams and the Water Works To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Despite all personal efforts and the efforts of friends for other results, a man will in the end be measured by his real merit. Mr. Williams invites us to his attack upon other, and better, and more liberal men than himself, and he should not complain if he in return receives his share of it, for he coined the currency with which he is paid. No man in our city has been more untiring in his efforts to create for himself a reputation for engineering skill and as a public spirited citizen, than Mr. Williams, and no man has been more unscrupulously appropriated to himself the talent, skill and industry of others for his own aggrandizement and profit. He knows if he were to give the credit for his reputation, which he places so high, to others, to whom it is really due, there would be little left he could rightfully call his own making. As canal engineer, railroad engineer, government director of the Union Pacific road, receiver of the Grand Rapids road, and in his latest effort to enlarge his reputation through the water works question, he appropriated to himself, without the acknowledgment, the skill and labors of others. No man has been more thoroughly in consistent with himself, except in the chief element of his character and selfishness. He never advanced an idea which the public embraced as in its interest. His money has never followed his judgment, nor the money of others his advice in any public matter. When others have determined values, he has crept in and availed himself of their better judgment, and always accepted the resulting additions and divisions in painfulness. He takes no chances upon his own judgment. As a controlling mind in any enterprise he would be a failure. His course upon the water works question is proof of this. He never did, and does not now, trust himself upon any question, and wavers, doubts and equivocates upon all until a better judgment shows him a sure way of making himself richer, so that men may praise him for his money if not for his merits.

These remarks are called out by an article in a city paper of the 26th, and again in this morning's Gazette, which is so like some of Mr. Williams' other efforts, that its paternity can be easily traced. He claims the merit—if merit it be—of defeating the water works contract of 1870. It is yet to be determined whether what he now favors is any better. If Mr. W. is vain enough or his friends are foolish enough to claim that he was "instrumental in whole or in part" for the defeat of this contract, they know but little of the facts and the exact truth of the case. Then, as ever, he waited for others to do what he now claims as his own work. Mr. W. is so well known as an inconsistent, selfish and vindictive man, that his influence will neither defeat nor aid any project of a public interest. He is not responsible for his own action, and is not wisely advised by his friends.

THEY DROPPED.

A Pair of Interesting Hanging Bees.

Magoon, who was hanged at Windsor, Vt., Friday, when carried to the scaffold and placed in the chair, listened to the reading of the death warrant. He then predicted that within three years they would know who killed Streeter. He complained of the injustice done him in not being reprieved for a year, that the case might be presented to the legislature and a new trial granted. While speaking he trembled violently and shed tears. After speaking he was bound and led to the front by the deputies. He then gave instructions as to the disposal of his remains, and the black cap being drawn over his face, at 1:45 minutes, and at the end of 32 minutes was cut down and placed in the coffin.

Lafe Walker was hanged Friday at 2 p. m. at Wayne county court house, West Virginia, in the presence of five thousand people, for the murder of Pat Nolan, on the 19th of October, 1878. He died without a struggle. Good order was preserved by a strong body of police.

SPAIN'S SPREE.

Madrid Wild with Enthusiasm Over the Royal Marriage.

Balls, Illuminations, Bull Fights and Other Festivities.

Madrid is wild over the royal nuptials. Queen Isabella has arrived and presented her jewels to the Archduchess Marie Christine. Special representatives from France, Italy, Germany and England have presented credentials and gifts. The weather is rainy, and should it continue, the ceremony will be performed at the royal palace instead of the church.

The programme is as follows: On the first day the marriage ceremony takes place. On the second day, there will be a reception at the palace, and a gala performance at the opera. On the third and fourth days, there will be two bull fights, a state concert, illuminations, banquet at the palace and a gala performance at the theatre. Besides these official festivities, balls are announced in several of the embassies and houses of the nobility. King Alfonso and his sisters visit the arch duchess daily at the royal residence at Pardo.

IN MALE ATTIRE.

A Woman Who for Twenty Years Played a Man's Part and Was Married as a Man.

[Melbourne Evening News.]

Extraordinary disclosures have been made regarding a female lunatic discovered in male attire. It appears that the woman, who for the past twenty years has passed as a man under the name of Edward De Lacy Evans, has married three different women. The secret of her disguised sex has never been even suspected, although she worked continuously as a miner for many years, and had been following this occupation in Sandhurst, where she was an ordinary "wages man," breaking quartz and doing her work with the best of the other workmen at the several mines. She might possibly have carried on the fraud unsuspected to the end of her days but that for the fact that a few weeks ago she began to show symptoms of insanity, which gradually became more and more pronounced. Some fifteen months ago the woman between whom and the supposed man the form of marriage had been gone through gave birth to a child. This is strange, as the statement undoubtedly is that this woman, passing as Evans' wife, stoutly maintained that she never knew the secret of her presumed husband's sex. Since the child's birth Evans has lapsed into an absent-minded and lethargic condition, and seemed to have lost all heart for work. On July 22nd Evans was admitted to the hospital as a lunatic. The hospital records of the occurrence ran as follows: "Edward De Lacy Evans, male, married, admitted July 22nd, 1879, to the lunatic asylum, Bendigo, Victoria, under the name of Edward De Lacy Evans, a native of Jersey, while the hospital record gives him as an Irish accent, and claimed to be a nephew of the late General Sir Charles De Lacy Evans. Dr. Poland, resident surgeon at the Bendigo Hospital, having examined Evans, states that she herself had had one or more children. It is rumored that Evans was married several years ago in Melbourne, but regarding this evidence is not complete. One of the nurses at present at Bendigo Hospital says she can almost positively identify Evans as a passenger who came out in the ship Ocean Monarch twenty years ago. The girl, for this interesting character was then of girlish appearance, went under the name of Ellen Germanic. A singular feature of this story is that the nurse in question states that the girl had with her on the ship a box bearing the name "Edward De Lacy." The girl on arrival in Victoria went up country and the next the nurse heard was that she had sent for the box and married a fellow passenger. The second marriage was celebrated eighteen years since, but no record of the event has been found. The wife's name was Sarah Moore, who singularly enough had two children, both of whom died. She breathed not a word about the imposture. The third marriage between Evans and "his" present wife was celebrated at Ballarat on the 18th of September, 1868, by the Rev. W. Henderson, at the Presbyterian Church. On the latter occasion Evans put her age down at twenty-eight. Accepting this as correct she is now about thirty-nine. The certificate shows that the bridegroom's father was Edward J. De Lacy Evans, police magistrate, and that "his" mother's name was Ann Dora Vaughan, a Welsh woman. The maiden name of Evans' present wife was Julia Marquand. She states that she was twenty-five years of age when the marriage ceremony was performed and first became acquainted with Evans, through her sister, having been a friend of "his" former wife. Evans proposed marriage, but Vaughan's parents opposed the match. Evans, however, induced her to go to Ballarat with "him." The marriage took place there. For a fortnight after they were married they lived separately, she residing at a hotel. Subsequently they lived together. In appearance the man personator is feminine as regards the formation of features, but carries a decidedly masculine expression, though her face is as devoid of hair as an infant's. She is rather short of stature, regarded as a man, being about five feet four inches or five feet five inches. Her hair since her confinement in the hospital has grown almost to her shoulders. Sometime ago she met with an accident in the mine in which she was working, and thereby sustained a severe wound on her neck. The doctor who attended her never had the slightest suspicion of her sex. The same gentleman was afterward called in to attend Evans while she was suffering from a dangerous attack of fever, but then again the imposture escaped detection. Miss Marquand, the young lady with whom the marriage was celebrated, says that Evans represented to her that "he" had two children by his former wife in France, and that these had been sent to Ireland. Two gentlemen visited her soon after the case was

A NAUGHTY MAN

Who Sparks Married Ladies and Makes Them Trouble.

Remarkable Doings of a Gay Lothario.

An officer who draws his subsistence from the city treasury, lost his wife a short time ago. He at once conceived the idea of making arrangements to get a new one, and laid siege to the heart of a young married lady in the west end. The simple fact of her being already married made no difference to this gay Lothario, and after a great deal of persuasion and a promiscuous application of a remedy called "taffy" he gained her consent to marry him, provided the necessary papers could be procured, which would allow of such a proceeding.

The lady consulted with certain attorneys in relation to procuring a divorce from her present husband and it is probable that a petition would soon have been filed had not things taken an extraordinary turn. The lover about two weeks ago ceased his visits and now she is forlorn and seeks to tear her hair and hush her biler and sith, likewise to make things warm for the gay deceiver. Her wrath is more powerful owing to the fact that her only love and true has been playing the same game with five other blushing young ladies and widows to whom he plighted his troth, being engaged to three young ladies, a Bloomingdale and a Wayne street widow all at the same time. He cannot, under existing regulations, marry all of them, and the idea of risking premature baldness by marrying either one can not be thought of without a shudder, and unless a compromise can be effected, his dilemma is a perplexing one.

A NAUGHTY MAN

Who Sparks Married Ladies and Makes Them Trouble.

Remarkable Doings of a Gay Lothario.

An officer who draws his subsistence from the city treasury, lost his wife a short time ago. He at once conceived the idea of making arrangements to get a new one, and laid siege to the heart of a young married lady in the west end. The simple fact of her being already married made no difference to this gay Lothario, and after a great deal of persuasion and a promiscuous application of a remedy called "taffy" he gained her consent to marry him, provided the necessary papers could be procured, which would allow of such a proceeding. The lady consulted with certain attorneys in relation to procuring a divorce from her present husband and it is probable that a petition would soon have been filed had not things taken an extraordinary turn. The lover about two weeks ago ceased his visits and now she is forlorn and seeks to tear her hair and bust her hiler and sich, likewise to make things warm for the gay deceiver. Her wrath is more powerful owing to the fact that her only love and true has been playing the same game with five other blushing young ladies and widows to whom he plighted his troth, being engaged to three young ladies, a Bloomingdale and a Wayne street widow all at the same time. He cannot, under existing regulations, marry all of them, and the idea of risking premature baldness by marrying either one can not be thought of without a shudder, and unless a compromise can be effected, his dilemma is a perplexing one.
